

READMISSION

Saint Louis University students who have previously enrolled in an undergraduate program, and have not been enrolled for three consecutive semesters, including summer session, must reapply for admission following the requirements of a transfer applicant.

Former SLU students who attended another college or university must reapply for admission regardless of the time since their last enrollment at SLU.

Previous admission to Saint Louis University does not guarantee readmission.

Readmitted students are required to satisfy the degree requirements outlined in the catalog of their readmission semester.

Readmission requirements include a new undergraduate application.

Students who are academically dismissed may re-apply after one calendar year from the end of the dismissal semester.
