

PAYMENT OF TUITION AND FEES

Payment of tuition, fees, and deposits (not covered by financial aid awards) must be made after registration for classes at Saint Louis University.

Billing statements are generated on a monthly basis and are available electronically through mySLU's Payment Suite (<http://myslu.slu.edu/>). Students and authorized users will receive an email when a statement is available for review. Users can also generate an On-Demand Statement anytime with real-time updates through the same portal. Students are responsible for regularly monitoring their student accounts for any updates and outstanding balances.

For additional information about payment arrangements, see the Office of Student Financial Services (<https://www.slu.edu/financial-aid/>).

Late Payments

After registering for classes each semester, students at Saint Louis University must make financial arrangements regarding their billed costs to secure placement within those courses. Financial arrangements include: paying in full, enrolling in a semester payment plan, or securing a loan or other financial aid that will cover the balance in full. Financial arrangements must be finalized by the official census date of each semester. Failure to make adequate financial arrangements will result in a registration hold preventing future registration and schedule changes. Student may be subject recurring finance charges and/or late fees.

Nonpayment on Account

If any tuition, fees or charges owed to the University are not paid as and when due, we reserve the right to withhold diplomas related to your enrollment and cancel your enrollment for a current term and/or registration for future terms. If you no longer plan to attend Saint Louis University, contact the Office of the Registrar (<https://www.slu.edu/registrar/>) for an official withdrawal at 314-977-2269.
