Program Information

Dual Credit

Dual credit provides high school students the opportunity to earn college credit through select high school courses that are taught by SLU-approved, highly credentialed high school instructors. Courses are offered at a significant discount when compared with the cost of on-campus courses, and these courses allow students to earn transcribed college credit by the time they graduate from high school.

Accreditation and Compliance

Saint Louis University's 1818 Advanced College Credit Program is fully accredited under the Higher Learning Commission (HLC) and complies with the appropriate laws and statutes set forth by state legislatures in the areas where it operates.

Academic Rigor

Students enrolled in 1818 Advanced College Credit dual-credit courses should expect the course rigor, content, assessment, and student expectations to be identical to the course rigor, content, assessment, and expectations placed on University undergraduate students enrolled in the same course on the Saint Louis University campus.

Instructor Qualifications

High school instructors who teach 1818 Advanced College Credit courses are evaluated by their respective academic department or discipline area at Saint Louis University to ensure they adhere to the requirements set forth by the Higher Learning Commission (HLC) and the states in which the 1818 Advanced College Credit Program operates. Instructors must also adhere to Saint Louis University's requirements to be approved as an adjunct instructor.

Transferability

Students who successfully meet the course requirements will earn one, three or four credits per course, which is recorded on the student's official Saint Louis University transcript.

Saint Louis University dual credit is transferable to most colleges and universities nationwide. Check out our website for more information (<https://www.slu.edu/1818/students-parents/transfer-credits.php>).

Partner Schools

The 1818 Advanced College Credit Program partners with 86 high schools across 10 states. View course offerings and contact information at each participating 1818 high school.
