

FRENCH - ADVANCED, MICROCREDENTIAL

The microcredential in advanced French consists of six required credit hours. Satisfactory completion of the required courses would allow the student to develop the skills to conduct proficient-level communication in French through the acquisition of appropriate vocabulary, grammar, reading, writing, listening comprehension, speaking capabilities and an exploration of issues in French-speaking culture.

The microcredential in advanced French aligns itself with all other programs in the Department of Linguistics, Literatures, and Cultures in that it is designed to help students gain a broader understanding of themselves, as well as the languages and cultures of others. This inherently fosters an understanding and appreciation for diverse perspectives and represents a crucial virtue in today's globalized world.

Continuation Standards

Students are expected to earn a grade of "C" or better in each required course. Students who do not achieve the "C" or better grade in a required course will be expected to repeat the course in an attempt to achieve the "C" or better grade. Students may repeat a required course one time. Failure to achieve the "C" or better grade after one repeat attempt will have the student dismissed from the microcredential in Advanced French.

Madrid

Of the two required courses, only FREN 2010 is regularly offered at Saint Louis University-Madrid. 3000-level courses are offered in St. Louis. Students can only partially complete the microcredential in advanced French in Madrid; students may complete it in St. Louis partially or entirely.
